Oath/Declaration

The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

The oath or declaration is defective because:

The specification to which the oath or declaration is directed has not been adequately identified. See MPEP § 602.

The specification referenced in the substitute declaration filed July 15, 2004 has the incorrect date of filing of the specification. The format for form 106 is the month/day/year and not day/month/year as is common in many foreign countries.

Claim Objections

Applicant is advised that should claim 11 be found allowable, claim 13 will be objected to under 37 CFR 1.75 as being a substantial duplicate thereof. When two claims in an application are duplicates or else are so close in content that they both cover the same thing, despite a slight difference in wording, it is proper after allowing one claim to object to the other as being a substantial duplicate of the allowed claim. See MPEP § 706.03(k). The method of storing and retrieving glass of claim 11 encompasses the same steps as the recycling set forth in claim 13. As such claim 13 is a duplicate of claim 11 in that claim 11 has all the limitations of the claim from which it depends.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The conveyer unit in the storage rack can only move a single selected piece of glass at one time, but the claim can be read as moving them all together. Rewriting the section of claim 1 as follows will render this rejection moot.

-a conveyor unit located under the main frame, the conveyor unit being configured and disposed to move a selected glass offcut in and out of a selected slot of the storage rack; and Claims 2-9 depend from claim 1 and have the same indefiniteness problems.

Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lisec. Lisec discloses a method of storing glass sheets comprising the steps of:

receiving the glass from a breakout table;

pivoting the glass to a substantially vertical position of less than 90° relative to horizontal;

moving the sheet to a storage location where the glass is stored at a vertical orientation of less than 90° relative to horizontal.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lisec as applied to claim 10 above, and further in view of Zumstein. Regarding claims 11 and 13 Lisec teaches the method of storing glass as above, he does not teach removing the glass from the storage location. Zumstein US 5,511,671 teaches a method of handling glass comprising the steps:

- receiving glass from a breakout table;
- pivoting the sheets to a vertical orientation;
- placing the sheets into a storage rack;
- removing the sheets from the storage rack for use;
- pivoting the sheets to a substantially horizontal position;

conveying the glass to a work station for final use. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of invention to modify the process taught by Lisec by using the stored sheets as taught by Zumstein in order to sort and store glass sheets and use them as needed in a production line, thereby speeding up the process while allowing off cuts to be sorted efficiently.

Regarding claims 12 and 14 Lisec further teaches that the glass when in the vertical orientation is at an angle relative to horizontal of between 87° and 84°.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-9 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action. The storage rack having its own conveyor is not taught or suggested by the closest prior art of Lisec.
